

(October 25, 2007) Lipinski Delivers Home Run Inn Pizza to Arizona Congressman

Lipinski Delivers Home Run Inn Pizza to Arizona Congressman

Rep. Lipinski follows through on friendly wager on the Cubs-Diamondbacks Playoff Series

[Washington, DC] Earlier this month, Congressman Dan Lipinski (D-IL) and Rep. Ed Pastor (D-AZ) made a friendly wager on the divisional playoff baseball series between the Chicago Cubs and the Arizona Diamondbacks. Each Member offered a popular product from their hometown, Rep. Pastor wagered red chile tamales and Rep. Lipinski wagered pizza from Home Run Inn.

Today, following the Cubs' loss, Congressman Lipinski made good on his bet and delivered five Home Run Inn Pizzas to Rep. Pastor's office.

"I am disappointed that I did not get to enjoy Arizona red chile tamales but I am even more disappointed to see the Cubs' World Series drought extend another year," said Rep. Lipinski. "At least Rep. Pastor and his staff get a taste of great pizza from Chicago. And, like all Cubs fans, I will once again say wait ‘till next year."